Srdjan Ivanovic brings together a stellar French group, playing a unique take on modern jazz with Balkan rhythmic and melodic influences that mix in with complex groove, the avant-garde and freedom for the band to modulate the music in the spark of the moment.

The music has been cooking for the past year in the clubs of Paris and festivals in France. The band, aside from Srdjan on drums features guitarist Manu Codjia whose distinct sound and style left a mark on a whole generation that listened to Eric Truffaz or Henri Texier's groups; young prodigy bassist Matis Regnault and flutist Ludivine Issambourg, a leader on the parisian electro-jazz scene.

From the press: "Ivanovic's rhythmic muscularity more than holds it all together." - The NYC Jazz Record (Suzanne Lorge)

"..expect no folklore, no cliches of unbridled fanfare. It is the nuance and the imagination that prevail here." La Croix (Yann Mens)

"Srdjan Ivanovic conceals an energising drum and percussion performance, an antidote to torpor." Citizen Jazz (Alice Leclercq)
